

Senate Passes Controversial Deficiency Bill

Appropriation
For Welfare Dep't
Also Approved

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The Illinois Senate today passed and sent to the House a $260,000 deficiency appropriation for the Statehouse Commission which used part of its money for a plush lounge for legislators.

The bill passed, 49-5, after a short debate in which there was much discussion of the commission's appropriation as a whole, but few references to the lounge itself.

Commission Chairman Sen. Everett R. Peters (R-St. Joseph) said a Chicago newspaper's story that no plans for Capitol improvements were submitted with the appropriation request was a "plain damn lie."

The commission received a regular appropriation last biennium of slightly over one million dollars to renovate the Statehouse.

Peters said "no one could have guessed" in advance what the project would cost.

Sen. William J. Lynch (D-Chicago) said he realized an accurate estimate of the renovation costs might be difficult, but that a deficiency of $260,000 amounted to an error of 25 per cent in figuring the estimates which was "unwarranted and fully unjustified."

Lynch also said that convicted State Auditor Orville E. Hodge got $80,000 of the Statehouse Commission's money for improvements in his office, but that the money wound up in his pockets.

Sen. Roland V. Libonati (D-Chicago) said "there has been no dishonesty" shown and the state and the commission "should pay their bills."

Sen. Merritt J. Little (R-Aurora) said he was "amazed" at newspaper stories on the lounge which has $40-a-yard carpeting and "let's be fair... we all wanted this (the lounge)... I don't think we are going to boycott a room in which we can take our constituents with pride."

Sen. Lottie Holman O'Neill, who last week protested at the "palatial" furnishing of the lounge, did not join in the debate, but she was one of those who voted "no."

The Senate also passed and sent to the governor for signature a $30,150,000 deficiency appropriation for the Public Aid Commission.

But it also adopted a resolution setting up a 10-member joint legislative committee to make a thorough study of the whole public aid program.

IPAC Executive Secretary Garrett W. Keaster conceded that the state had lost out on some federal matching funds. He blamed the need for deficiency appropriations on higher living and medical costs and increasing population.

Keaster also was questioned closely about the number of illegitimate children on the aid to dependent children relief rolls. He agreed that state laws on paternity should be tightened up to help force fathers to support their illegitimate offspring.

Keaster startled the senators by predicting that Illinois will need 360 million dollars for public aid in the next two years, the largest amount since the depression. The IPAC's regular appropriation for this biennium was 282 million dollars.

Ralph Hay to Address Annual Soil District Meeting at Eldorado Feb. 11

Professor Ralph Hay of the University of Illinois, will be the speaker at the annual meeting of the Saline County Soil Conservation District which will be held at Eldorado Monday evening, Feb. 11, in the Educational building of the Methodist church.

The meeting will begin with a banquet served by the ladies of the church at 6:30 p. m.

Chalked Appeal for Help in Shack Possible New Clue in Girls' Slaying

CHICAGO (UP)—Scientists studied today bits of human hair and flesh and a chalked appeal for help found near a ditch where the nude bodies of two teen-aged sisters were discovered two weeks ago.

The possible new clues in the murder of Patricia Grimes, 13, and her sister, Barbara, 15, were found Monday by police.

The crudely printed appeal for help was scrawled in chalk on a support at the back of an abandoned corrugated metal shack. The message read:

"Help Help — Help Help." A short time later, searches found a cardboard box containing locks of human hair, one of them with bits of flesh, wrapped in newspapers. The papers were dated in September and November, 1956.

Dr. Harry Kearns, a pathologist who examined the victims' bodies, said Barbara apparently had lost no hair, but an oval slash was found in Patricia's head. He said he would examine the hair and flesh.

Crime laboratory scientists collected all the items found in the shack for further study.

They also sought to match the scrawled appeal with samples of the girls' handwriting. One such sample was found in a filling station in the victims' neighborhood where attendants said one of the Grimes sisters had written the name "Elvis" on a stove.

The name apparently referred to Elvis Presley, the girls' idol. They disappeared Dec. 28 after attending a movie starring Presley.

Authorities theorized the appeal for help could have been written by the girls if they had been held captive in the shack before their murder. They said the message also might be the work of pranks.

Other items found in the shack included a metal chair, pieces of lumber, broken soft drink bottles and ashes. Authorities said there were not enough ashes to account for the girls' clothing, which has not been found. No buttons or zippers were found in the ashes.

The box and the shack were located about one-half mile from the ditch along a country road south west of the city where the bodies were discovered Jan. 22.

Film Showing Birth of Baby is Televised by BBC; Few Protests

LONDON (UP)—The British Broadcasting Corp. televised a film showing the birth of a baby Monday night.

Most viewers agreed it was done with remarkable tact, but the dissenting tabloid Daily Sketch quoted a "father of two" today as saying BBC was turning television "into an ultra-sensational horror comic."

The BBC said early today it had only six telephone calls from the millions who watched the program around their firesides after most children were asleep. Four calls disapproved, two approved.

Doctors Voice Protests

The birth of the baby came as part of a program in which "natural birth" expert Grantly Dick Read defended his system whereby the mother helps guide the baby into the world—a system opposed by London doctors.

One of the doctors present said after the film, "I wouldn't like any patient of mine groping around trying to help her baby out." The doctors were not identified in line with British Medical Association policy.

The film showed the mother on her back, her knees up, the baby already half born. One of the two doctors guided the mother's hands and handed her the newborn babe as a smile of bliss spread over her face.

Mother Was Anonymous

The mother was an unidentified South African who volunteered when the film was made in Johannesburg last year. She agreed to its being shown anywhere in the world except South Africa.

The Daily Sketch was the only newspaper to protest. It carried a headline "Revolt—By A Father Of Two" over a story by Alan Gardner.

"Revolt! Beyond the pale! I condemn the BBC for the worst lapse of taste ever," Gardner was quoted.

"They showed us a baby being born in all its stark, primitive detail. All right. We were adult. So the children were in bed when the program was on."

"But there are some things which should never be shown on television and this was one of them. It sickened me. It sickened my wife."

"I did not see my children born. I didn't want to—thought I respect the motives of those men who do."

"But to blazon the moments of childbirth on television screens is to turn television into an ultra-sensational horror comic."

Dulles Has Hopes Israel Will Comply with Withdrawal Order

Paul Gray Death To Delay Mailing Tax Statements

Death of Paul Gray of Galatia, who was employed in the office of County Clerk Don B. Garrison, will cause a considerable delay in mailing of Saline county tax statements this year.

Mr. Gray, who died January 23, was abstracting property assessments in the county preparatory to determining tax rates so that tax books could be made out and turned over to Collector Maynard Cannon.

Completion of a considerable part of the work he was doing required his personal knowledge and experience, and it will be difficult for someone else to pick up the work, Mr. Garrison stated.

The County Clerk stated he hopes to secure the services of Mrs. Clyde Dallas, former employee who is experienced in the work. Meanwhile, Mr. Garrison, Nelson Berry and Mrs. Irene Moser are handling as much of the work as possible.

After the assessments are allotted to each taxing body and the rates are determined, the collector's books are prepared, then the collector must type out tax statements in his office.

Structure of Rotary Explained To Club by Dr. Wm. J. Blackard

The structure and some of the laws of the Rotary organization were discussed by Dr. W. J. Blackard, program chairman, at the Rotary meeting Monday.

Dr. Blackard told of the beginning of the Rotary club in 1905, when Paul Harris, a Chicago lawyer, invited several of his friends in different occupations to meet at his home to form a club. From this small beginning, the Rotary organization has grown to include 439,000 members in 9,200 communities.

Dr. Blackard explained how the organization is divided into districts, each with a district governor. The organization of the local clubs permits of a senior and junior member from each profession represented in the community. The local government is by a board of directors, elected by the members of the club. The policies of the local clubs are directed by the governors of the various districts. Also, Rotary International has a governor which is elected.

The different types of membership in the local clubs, were presented by Dr. Blackard. He told

TV Tower Collapses

Four Workers Hurlled to Death as Slender Structure Snaps 300 Feet Up

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—The collapse of a new, 1,200-foot tower of one of the South's most powerful television stations with a loss of four lives puzzled the experts today.

The slender structure for no apparent reason began to snap 300 feet up with a "splintering" noise and "collapsed like an accordion" Monday afternoon, hurling the four workers to their deaths from 700 feet up. There was only a slight wind.

The tower was built for WSM-TV, known as the home of the "Grand Ole Opry," by the General Electric Corp., and was virtually complete but had not been put into use.

The victims were identified as Donald Kinnan, 25, of Tucson, Ariz.; Robert Lee Kirshner, of California, Mo.; Ray H. Maxwell, 27,

Hoover Warns Depression Signs Visible

WASHINGTON (UP)—Former President Hoover warned Monday night he can "detect the signs" of a hair-curling depression because "mine has already been curled once."

Mr. Hoover, whose administration saw the beginning of the last great depression, said these signs are visible in the current inflationary trend. He blamed the trend on "pressure groups" and government spending.

"You do not need to be told that unless inflation is stopped, the end is a bump," he said in a speech to the National Reorganization Conference.

Mr. Hoover cited Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey's recent warning that continued big federal spending could lead to a depression "that will curl your hair."

Unless inflation is curbed "on its way up," Mr. Hoover said, "old man economic law will return with a full equipment of hair curlers."

President Eisenhower presented the 82-year-old Republican "elder statesman" a citation at the conference for the "incalculable good" Hoover has done in promoting governmental reforms.

Sec'y Says U. S. Is Not Thinking Of Sanctions

Has No Plans to Resign; Defends
Mid-East Policies

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today he has good grounds to hope Israel will comply with a United Nations resolution calling for speedy withdrawal from the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba.

At his first news conference since Dec. 18, Dulles said the United States is not thinking of supporting sanctions against Israel. He said this government now is thinking only that Israel will comply with the U. N. resolution approved overwhelmingly last week-end.

Asked why he believes Israel will comply with the U. N. resolution to withdraw "without further delay," Dulles said Israel is a country which has respect for the decent opinions of mankind. Israel he continued, relies on the good will of the world.

He expressed the opinion that Israel would respect the overwhelming vote in the U. N. for the withdrawal. Only Israel and France voted against the U. N. resolution compared with 74 votes in favor.

Dulles said Egypt also could be expected to respect U. N. actions on the Middle East, such as granting Israeli ships the right to use the Suez Canal.

Dulles said the world now seems to favor compliance with U. N. armistice decisions and that the world wants a period of tranquility in the Middle East.

Dulles was asked by a reporter whether the United States would "go to the protection of Israel" in the event of aggression even if this meant risking war with the Soviet Union. Without mentioning Israel directly, Dulles replied that the overall American policy is not to be deterred by fear of what the Soviet Union might do in any particular case.

Dulles said the United States has repeatedly faced up to situations involving Soviet threats. He said this is the proper course to pursue.

At his 40-minute news conference, Dulles also:

1. Said he has no plans now to resign or retire as secretary of state. He defended the administration's policies in the Middle East as honorable and predicted history would justify this estimate. He said it was heartwarming to hear President Eisenhower refer to him as a man of unparalleled wisdom and knowledge.

2. There has been no discussion of a Big Three summit meeting of Mr. Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, and French Premier Guy Mollet. But it would be normal for Mr. Eisenhower to meet separately with the British and French leaders in due course.

3. A visit to the United States by Yugoslav Marshal Tito would be useful as a way to exchange views with Mr. Eisenhower. Despite vigorous congressional objections which prompted Tito to put off the visit "for the time being," Dulles said he still believes a Tito visit would be useful. He said a date had never been set.

Turnpike Building Slackens

There aren't many long-distance turnpikes still 'in the works.' Florida's Sunshine State Parkway is one, and key part of that is now open.

Eventually this fabulous double ribbon of road will stretch from Miami north beyond Jacksonville to a point near the Georgia border. The operating section runs from Miami about 110 miles up to Fort Pierce on the east coast.

Hordes of Miami-bound tourists unquestionably will welcome even this much as a vast relief from increasingly crowded highways in south Florida. This section, indeed the entire route, ought to prove a money-maker, which is something that cannot be said of all present turnpikes.

Before the long Florida super-road is finished, motorists will be playing the 125-mile Massachusetts turnpike, which now is scheduled for completion this May. And some portions may be open on the new Connecticut thruway running southwesterly from the Rhode Island line into New York City (with New York state connections, of course).

Other than these, there isn't too much stirring. Oklahoma is adding some to its present system. New York and Pennsylvania are building spurs and extensions at various points. Illinois plans a system of highway areas that will take traffic around the Chicago metropolitan zone but not go for distance.

The 33-billion-dollar federal highway program put the final crimp in expanding turnpike plans last year.

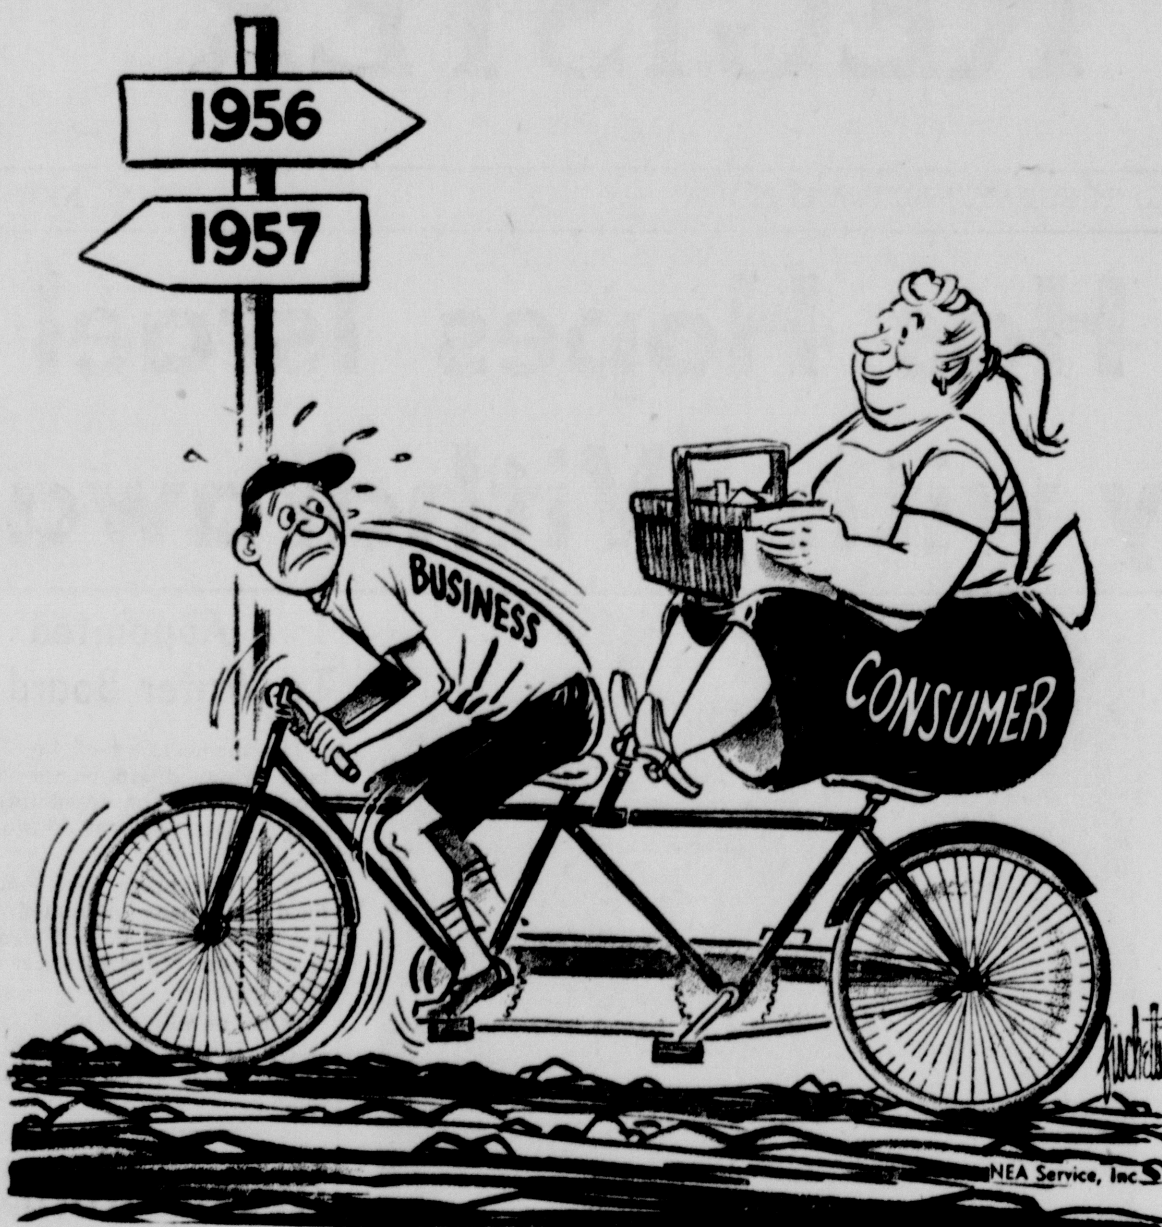

Before that blow, however, the market for the revenue bonds which finance these roads was badly hurt by reports of poor revenue intake in some places. That problem still plagues officials seeking to finish the financing on roads already under construction or authorized.

But though the turnpike building era may be drawing to a close, no one who drives over these magnificent roads-in-being will question that it has been a vital and useful era in American transportation history.

Return From the Picnic

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Boston Globe Drops Bombshell In TV Battle; Affidavits Charge Rival Threatened To Drive Globe Out Of Business; FCC Decides Case Without Debate.

WASHINGTON. — The Boston Globe dumped sand last week on the skids that had been greased for its competitor, the Boston Herald-Traveler, to win a television license worth $20 million. It filed a series of affidavits with the Federal Communications Commission that have the television-publishing world buzzing.

Prior to this the FCC, under pressure from GOP National Chairman Len Hall and Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, ordered its staff to prepare the necessary papers for awarding the valuable TV permit to the Herald and Traveler.

The decision was so cut-and-dried that the commissioners didn't even bother to discuss it. The four who always jump when the GOP national committee snaps its fingers—Chairman George McConaughy, John Doerfer, Robert Lee, and Richard Mack—simply cast their majority vote for the Herald and Traveler. They not only disregarded the findings of the FCC's veteran chief examiner, Col. James Cunningham, but violated the FCC's own policy against concentrating news outlets into too few hands.

STARTLING CHANGES The last minute before formal action, however, the rival Boston Globe made a vigorous protest. In a series of startling affidavits, the Globe charged that Herald-Traveler publisher Robert Choate had threatened to use the new TV station to drive the Globe out of business.

The affidavits claimed that Choate had tried for two years to force a merger between the Globe and Herald-Traveler. On legal advice that such a merger would violate the antitrust laws, the Globe refused to negotiate.

Choate then angrily threatened "to do his best to put the Globe out of business," and, if he won his TV license "to use his newspapers, radio station, and television station to injure the Globe if he could," charged Globe President Davis Taylor in a sworn affidavit.

In another affidavit, Globe Treasurer John Taylor quoted Choate as warning: "If I get Channel 5, I may drive you out of business."

The Globe's advertising director, John F. Reid, told of still another conversation with Choate. At a Clover Club reception last March 10, Choate allegedly asked Reid: "Where are you coming to work for the Herald-Traveler?"

When Reid said he was satisfied with his Globe job, Choate retorted: "Wait until we get our TV station and see what happens."

What Choate apparently meant was that the Herald-Traveler could offer "package advertising" in its newspapers and over its radio and TV stations at bargain rates. The Herald-Traveler already operates Boston's 50,000-watt radio station WHDH and offers combined radio time and newspaper space to advertisers at unpublished rates.

PRESSURED BANKS

In its petition to the FCC, the Globe protested that "if the Herald-Traveler should be awarded a license to operate television channel 5, due to the policy of the Herald-Traveler, the power of the Herald-Traveler, to promote its own business will be greatly increased so that (the Globe) could compete against it only with the greatest of difficulty."

The Globe is also building a new printing plant, which required financing from the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance company and the Second Bank-Street Trust Company. Davis Taylor charged in his affidavit: "After the insurance company and the bank informed the Globe that they would furnish such financing, but before they had committed themselves other than by verbal commitment, Mr. Choate visited the officers of the insurance company and officers of the bank and attempted to upset the loans."

It will be interesting to see whether the Globe, an independent paper, can persuade the FCC not to award the TV permit to the pro-Republican Herald-Traveler.

Chief Examiner Cunningham, judging the case strictly on its merits, ruled in favor of awarding the license to the Greater Boston Television Corp. But Choate pulled political strings through Hall, Weeks, and to a lesser extent, Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R., Mass.). Weeks even arranged appointments for Choate at the FCC.

"LET POST DIE"

As a result, the FCC overruled its chief examiner in December without so much as discussing the controversial case. Now that the political pressure has been exposed, it remain to be seen whether the FCC will reverse itself before issuing a formal and final decision.

Note No. 1—John Taylor, in his affidavit, told of mentioning the Boston Post in a conversation with Choate. The Herald-Traveler publisher is quoted as replying: "Oh, to hell with the Post. Let it die on the vine." The Post has now gone out of business.

Note No. 2—The FCC's preliminary decision in favor of the Herald-Traveler leaked out and caused a sudden jump in Herald-Traveler stock. The FCC is doing nothing about this leak, though the Civil Aeronautics Board is now investigating a similar leak that caused speculating in Northeast Airlines stock.

FRESHMEN GRUMBLE

Freshmen Republican senators are grumbling over the way they were shunted off to minor committees. Every GOP newcomer, for example, ended up on the committee that administers local District of Columbia affairs.

For their second assignments, they drew either the Post Office or Rules committee—the next two in order of least importance. Even New Jersey's Sen. Clifford Case, who has served two years in the Senate, is still stuck on the District and Post Office committees.

In contrast, every Democratic freshman was assigned to at least one major committee. Three newcomers—Blakely of Texas, Carroll of Colorado, and Lausche of Ohio—drew two major assignments.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson has dictated the policy of giving freshmen a break. New Republicans are muttering openly that they wish the "Lyndon Johnson rule" would be applied on the GOP side.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)

When we pray we often overlook a great many people for whom we should pray. So, too, do we forget a lot of sins which should be forgiven. Many conditions exist which could be corrected with Supreme guidance.

We keep grocery lists so that we shall purchase our needs at the store. Backs of envelopes carry reminders of tasks which must be done. Memo pads remind us of calls to make, and appointments to keep. Books are written about how to remember and how to accomplish more during each day.

Spiritually we could increase our effectiveness if we kept lists of people and matters to be remembered both in our prayers and in our application of religion to life.

Miss Arlene Grant, Virgil Molinarolo Exchange Vows

In a formal wedding ceremony Saturday, Jan. 26, Miss Arlene Grant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Grant, of Morocco, Ind., became the bride of Virgil Molinarolo of Peoria, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Molinarolo of Eldorado.

The double ring ceremony was performed at 11:00 a. m., at St. Patrick's Catholic church in Bloomington, Ill., by Father George Casper with seventy-five relatives and friends attending. Frances Legner of Bloomington was soloist and also officiated at the organ.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of rosepoint lace over satin designed with a fitted bodice and a portrait neckline and lace sleeves that tapered to a point at the wrist. The floor length bouffant skirt was also rose point lace and tiers of net over satin. Her net illusion shoulder length veil was attached to a lace crown headpiece trimmed in seed pearls. She carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations and her only jewelry was a pearl necklace and earrings.

Mrs. Ed Schmitt of Gary, Ind., sister of the groom, was matron of honor and wore a ballerina length gown of pink lace over taffeta, with a boat neckline and tiny sleeves. The waistline was accented by a narrow panel of pink taffeta flowing into two wide dark panels and her headpiece was braided pink tulle tiara with eye length veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations.

The bridesmaid was Miss Joyce Miller of Donovan, Ill., and she wore a gown identical to the other attendant.

Ed Schmitt of Gary, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man and Eugene Grant of Morocco, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

The ushers were Richard Grant of Donovan, cousin of the bride and Paul Molinarolo, of Eldorado, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Grant, mother of the bride, wore a navy blue dress with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bride-groom's mother, Mrs. Molinarolo, wore a navy blue two piece dress with black accessor-

Immediately following the wedding a reception was given at the parish hall and Mrs. Marion Hilary and Miss Audrey Peterson cut the cake. Mrs. Carl Shipman poured the coffee and Miss Helen Mena served the punch. Miss Mavis Grant was in charge of the guest book and Miss Ruth Keller displayed the gifts.

The bride's travel costume for the wedding trip was a black two piece silk shantung dress with white hat and gloves and black shoes and purse. She wore a white carnation corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Molinarolo are making their home at 1214 North Sheridan Road, Peoria.

The bride is a graduate of the Donovan high school and received a B. S. degree in education at Illinois State Normal University.

Have You Lost $100.00?

"A penny saved is a penny earned." You are losing $ $ $ each week if you are without the NEW POWER ROTOR in your car.

This Rotor has been tested and proven U. S. Patent No.
2451482 and operates on the principle used in "gas cracking" in refining gas. The printed third circuit runs spark from the main rotor tip to all of the plug gaps at once establishing a path for the main firing spark.

This ionizing spark is NON BURNING because the mille-amps are reduced by the printed circuit. This high voltage reacts on the gas mixture in the cylinder preparing it for the main firing spark. (This can be compared to tenderizing steak before cooking in a more understandable language).

This processing gives a quicker cleaner burning mixture which in turn gives quicker starting, more pickup, more mileage, cleaner plugs and motor.

This is a new invention using an old well-known principle, and is positively not a "gadget" as found around fairs and carnivals and in cheap magazines.

We will install this Rotor for you (only 2 minutes time) and if you are not perfectly satisfied within 2 weeks we will remove the Rotor and refund your money without argument.

We have sold to owners in all walks of life. Several which have said that they would not take $25.00 for the Rotor if they couldn't get another. We have worked in Harrisburg for years and have always tried to be honest and dependable. If we had not tested and proved these Rotors we would not be selling them to our friends and customers. We know they are all right.

Woman Trapped in Car By Live Wires

ST. LOUIS (UP) — A 39-year-old Duplo, Ill., woman was trapped in her car for 20 minutes Monday night when her car was draped with live wires.

Mrs. Lillian F. Duerbusch lost control of her car and crashed into a light standard and utility pole.

The wires dropped on the car but the tires prevented the electricity from grounding. Police say Mrs. Duerbusch would have suffered an electric shock had she not remained in the car.

Linemen removed the wires and Mrs. Duerbusch was taken to City Hospital for treatment of a head injury.

Rains Plague Flood Areas

By United Press
A persistent band of showers continued to plague the flood-damaged Southeast today, and colder weather spread from the Ohio Valley into the Northeast.

Rain and drizzle pelted much of the area south of a line from Kansas and Oklahoma eastward into the Carolinas. One of the worst storms dumped more than an inch of rain at Flippin, Ark., in less than six hours Monday night.

The continuing showers brought new flood dangers to northeastern Mississippi, northern Georgia and Alabama.

The Tombigbee River overflowed its banks in Mississippi, forcing residents at several points to flee. The rampaging Coosa river threatened to cause serious flooding in a day or two at Rome, Ga., and in Alabama.

The murky flood waters, which started on a nine-state rampage last week, have killed at least 15 persons and have caused damages near the $1 billion mark.

Retirement Pay For Presidents Faces House Action

WASHINGTON — A Senate-approved bill to give living ex-presidents and future retiring presidents $25,000 yearly in retirement pay faces an uncertain fate in the House.

Rep. James C. Davis (D-Ga.), who played a key part in killing a similar bill last year, indicated today he will try to block the measure again if he gets the chance.

"They have gone crazy on the subject of giving away the taxpayers' money," Davis told a reporter. "There are only two ex-presidents, Truman and Hoover, and neither of them needs the money."

Davis was chairman of a House civil service subcommittee which last year buried a presidential retirement bill passed by the Senate and much like the measure the Senate approved Monday.

To Discuss Unit School System at Eldorado Meeting

The Eldorado Community Development association is sponsoring a Town meeting, described as absolutely non-partisan by the CDA, to discuss the Community Unit system of school districts at the Eldorado high school auditorium at 7 p. m. Feb. 11.

Glenn Muckley, CDA president, stated that the CDA is remaining neutral in the issue, that it definitely is not taking sides, that there will be a free discussion at which anybody can give his opinion.

Principal speaker will be N. E. Hutson of Springfield, assistant superintendent in charge of legal matters in the Office of Public Instruction. Horace Brown, Gallatin county superintendent of schools, and representative of ten school boards throughout the county have been invited to appear.

Stratton Will Not Postpone Special Election

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Gov. William G. Stratton said today there is nothing he can do about postponing a special election to fill a vacancy in the Southern Illinois 24-county 1st Supreme Court District. He made the comment in acknowledging receipt of resolution passed by the House last week and calling for the postponement.

The special election was called by Stratton to fill the vacancy caused by the late Justice Ralph Maxwell, Nashville. Stratton said it would be illegal for him to postpone a special election.

State Rep. Alan J. Dixon, D., sought the postponement to a date which would coincide with the regular June 3rd judicial circuit elections.

The House passed the Dixon resolution by a vote of 88 to 83 with some Republican support.

Hungary Seals Border with Yugoslavia

VIENNA — Communist Hungary sealed its border with Marshal Tito's Yugoslavia today and ordered mixed patrols of Hungarian and Russian soldiers to shoot anyone trying to escape.

Budapest Radio announced that five counties along the border had been declared a prohibited area and could be entered only with special documents.

The radio broadcast an Interior Ministry announcement which said "thousands of persons" have appeared in the border zone recently with the obvious intention of crossing illegally into Yugoslavia.

"This has endangered the security of the country, and the security forces therefore have received orders to close traffic in the Yugoslav border zone," the announcement said.

More than 16,000 Hungarians have fled to Yugoslavia since the start of the revolution in October. More than 170,000 others have crossed into Austria.

Refugees reaching Austria in the last 24 hours reported security precautions also have been increased along the Austrian border. They said they saw bodies of several refugees who had been shot by border guards in their escape attempts.

Christopher Man Injured at Mine

BUCKNER, Ill. — An assistant foreman at the Old Ben No. 14 coal mine was injured critically Monday when he was hit by a slow-moving coal car.

Ben Sowell, 64, Christopher, is in a Benton hospital. A mine spokesman said it was necessary to amputate one leg above the knee and part of the other foot.

The spokesman said Sowell apparently did not see the partially loaded coal car as it was moving down from the tippie or misjudged its speed.

Finds 3 Children Dead in Tub, Wife Attempts Suicide

CHICAGO — A father returned home from work Monday night to find his three children drowned in the bathtub and his wife unconscious in an apparent suicide attempt.

Richard Puetz, 32, of suburban Park Ridge, told the coroner's office his house was filled with gas when he arrived. He said his wife was lying unconscious by a stove with her head resting on the oven door.

Mrs. Beverly Puetz, 26, was revived and reported in good condition at Psychopathic Hospital. Her husband, an official of an Evanston department store, said she had been suffering from a nervous condition but was not under a doctor's care.

Authorities estimated the children, 3-year-old twin girls Debra Lynn and Cory Lynn, and 5-year-old John, had been dead about four hours.

Puetz said he called his wife early in the afternoon and she sounded "happy." He said he called again later, and hurried home when nobody answered.

Millionaire Sued For Clothing Bill By Millinery Firm

MIAMI, Fla. — A Chicago millinery firm has sued millionaire Horace E. Dodge II for payment of a clothing bill which included a $2,650 pastel mink jacket.

Stanley Forshak Inc., filed suit in Federal Court here Monday claiming the wealthy auto heir refused to pay for the mink jacket, a $365 chiffon and velvet dress and a $365 wool tweed suit. Dodge had bought the clothes for his pretty blonde wife, the former Gregg Sherwood.

State Refuses Responsibility For Plane Noise

SPRINGFIELD — The State of Illinois has refused to take responsibility for the racket of National Guard planes spurs lady minks to massacre each other.

The Illinois Court of Claims ruled Monday against David and Joseph Cerar, operators of a Carlinville mink farm, who had filed for $5,795 in damages. They said the roar of the planes stampeded the female minks and 105 of the furry animals died.

The court's ruling stated that the claim would place both the state and the U. S. Air Force under "a responsibility which would be unreasonable at a time when we are trying to maintain and strengthen the defense of this country."

Offer Bill for Dep't of Audits

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — Administration leaders Monday introduced in the state Senate a bill to create a department of audits headed by an auditor general appointed by the governor.

The bill represents one of Gov. William G. Stratton's major proposals for overhauling the state's fiscal setup to prevent future Hodge-type scandals.

The auditor general would have to be a certified public accountant, and the new department would have a bipartisan advisory board.

Under Stratton's proposals, the new auditor general would replace the present elected state auditor. However, abolition of the auditor's office as an elective post would have to be by constitutional amendment.

Earlier, administration leaders introduced bills to create a new department of financial institutions to regulate banks and savings and loan associations now under the auditor. This was another part of Stratton's "reform" program.

Operator of Area Food Plan Reported Missing

A state-wide alert has been issued for a former Herrin man after Lake County authorities reported they suspect foul play.

Eugene Charles Woolsey, 33, formerly associated with the Little Egypt Food Plan in Herrin, was reported missing last week after he failed to return to his home at Venetian Village, Lake Villa, from a business trip to Missouri.

He is employed now as a traveling salesman for food freezers and food plans.

Woolsey is also being sought by officials in several Southern Illinois counties on a variety of charges.

He and Silvio Timo, Herrin, were indicted on a charge of "false pretenses" by a Hamilton county grand jury Nov. 8 in connection with the Little Egypt Food Plan operations there.

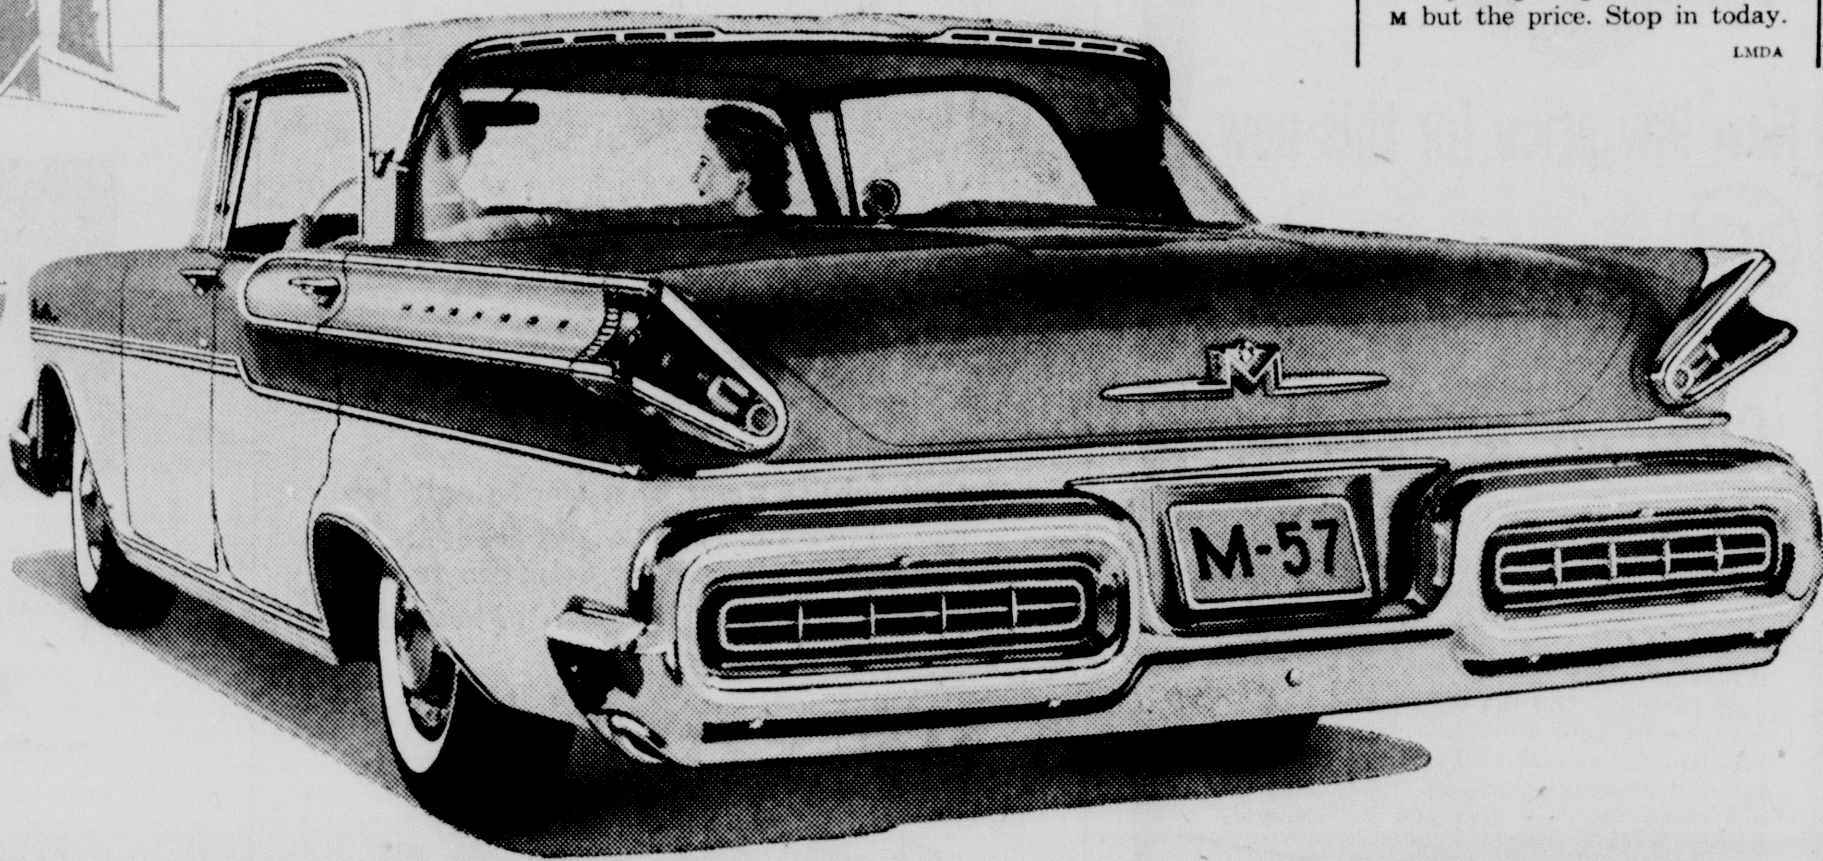

State's Atty. Frank Bonan said today the indictments were dismissed because of technical errors but the men are subject to re-indictment, he said. Bonan also said Woolsey was wanted on a bad check charge in Hamilton county.

Woolsey was charged with issuing a check to defraud in Williamson County Court on Jan. 13. He has never been arraigned on that charge.

Plow Faster, Deeper, Cleaner with a Cost-Saving OLIVER No. 4440

You'll turn over more acres per day with a big No. 4440—4, 5 or 6 bottoms. And do a better job.

You can make it the size you want, too—in a few minutes. Just bolt on an Oliver preassembled unit... add one or two bottoms to a 4-bottom plow.

Big passageways for trash enable you to go deeper, plow cleaner. There's more clearance beneath beams, between bottoms. Lift clearance is constant, a full 7 1/2 inches from any depth.

Spring-trip releases permit bottoms to swing back, ride over obstructions without damage. To reset, merely back the plow. Saves time—no re hitching or recoupling. Steerable front wheel, 15-inch wheels all around, backbone of tubular steel, low-cost Raydex shares.

Illinois Defeats Ohio State, 96-89; Purdue Loses to Michigan to Tighten Race

CHICAGO — Ohio State's Buckeyes clung stubbornly to first place today but they stood in dire danger from four other challengers in the unpredictable Big Ten basketball race.

Despite their 96-89 loss to Illinois Monday night, the Buckeyes retained their half-game margin over second-place Purdue when the Boilermakers blew a chance at taking over by bowing, 66-54, to Michigan.

When all the scores were in, including Indiana's 74-56 romp over Northwestern, Ohio State had a 6.2 record compared to Purdue's 5.2 slate and 4-2 marks shared by Illinois, Michigan and the Hoosiers.

The Buckeyes face their next threat Saturday when they meet place today but they stood in dire danger from four other challengers in the unpredictable Big Ten basketball race.

The setback by Illinois was their second straight by a leading contender and followed a loss last week at Michigan State.

Illini scoring ace George Bon-Salle hit for 27 points in his final appearance to pace the winning attack. The Illinoi quintet moved in front shortly after the start and led the rest of the way.

The Buckeyes came close at 87-85 when Frank Howard and Gene Millard sparked a rally but Illinois iced the contest with 90 seconds remaining and swelled the winning margin to 7 points. Howard's 30 points were enough to make him the conference's leading scorer, supplanting Archie Dees of Indiana.

Michigan's fourth conference victory came at the close of a seesaw battle with the Boilermakers in which the lead changed hands eight times. The Wolverines, with Ron Kramer providing the ammunition, moved ahead early in the second half 48-47 and were never headed.

Kramer's 17 points were tops for the Wolves and for the game. Center Lamar Lundy got 14 for Purdue.

Dees and Charley Hodson powered the Hoosier victory over Northwestern in a ragged basketball contest. Dees' total of 20 points, 3 points below his game average, dropped him to second place among Big Ten marksmen.

Big Ten defending champion Iowa went out of the conference Monday night and was handed a 62-54 defeat by Washington University of St. Louis. It was Washington's first triumph over the Hawkeyes since 1928.

Mantle was only the 14th member of the world champions to come to terms when he formally signed Monday for a reported $60,000. That left 27 Yankees still out of the fold, including the bulk of the pitching staff.

Don Larsen, among the pitchers, is expected to give the Yankee negotiators their biggest tussle on the basis of that unprecedented no-hit, no-run game he turned in against the Dodgers in last year's World Series. The no-windup rightlander reportedly hopes to double his 1956 salary of $12,000 this year but the first contract he returned assertedly carried only a $3,000 raise.

Although the terms of Mantle's contract were not revealed, Yankee General Manager George Weiss revealed the switch-hitting center fielder received the greatest increase in the club's history. He received an estimated $32,000 in 1956, so Mickey's new contract represented almost a 100 per cent hike in pay.

The Ridgway high school basketball team no longer has a 6-8 center.

That bit of information comes from no less an authority than J. O. Rustin, Ridgway principal.

Throughout the current basketball season sports writers have been referring to Roger Suttner as the 6-8 center from Ridgway, but Mr. Austin told me last Friday night it would be necessary to stop making such a reference.

Said Mr. Austin "Suttner is now 6-9 1/4 plus." He stated that only that afternoon, Friday Feb. 1, that Suttner was measured on the door facing of the principal's office and he was just a shade over 6-9 1/4. Mr. Austin also revealed that one year ago he had measured Suttner and he now stands 4 inches taller than he did Feb. 1, 1956.

The boy is only a sophomore. Move over "Wilt The Stilt." Make room for Roger the 7'7 1/2". This department is open for a suggestion for an appropriate name for the fine prospect from Ridgway with two more seasons to play after this one.

Bobby Joe Mason to Rejoin Bradley Team

PEORIA, Ill. — Bobby Joe Mason, dropped from the Bradley University basketball team last season because of academic difficulties, will rejoin the squad next Monday. However, on the same day the Braves will lose forward Don Carothers, who recently flunked a course.

In this steady progression of days, and the busy-ness of those days, Alex was unhappy, while Cass was not. She took increased pleasure in the work she was doing, in the part she was playing. She liked the authority which she had; she liked the crisp feeling of attending to so many things promptly, efficiently, and well. She liked the way she looked those days. Her tailored smart cottons were very becoming. At two o'clock she changed into a dark dress. When the days grew warm, she bought three dresses, all alike, of black linen. She could get duplicates of them in crepe for next winter. Black was always good, she told herself. With pearls—

Her red hair and transparent skin were made for black.

She was shocked when Alex spoke of her costume as a uniform.

"Why, Alex, I thought I looked—"

"You have other clothes. I remember from last summer. Don't you remember? Aunt Cordy used to disapprove of all those rusty, frilly petticoats. Are they worn out? If so, get some more. I don't like this thing of living with white uniforms all day, and coming home to black ones at night."

Cass said nothing. Marcy looked in concern from Alex to his wife.

After dinner, the younger girl took an opportunity to tell Cass that she'd better invest in some shorts and petticoats.

"I have them," said Cass shortly. "It's just that I don't believe they'd lend me any authority when I have to tell off the cook! Or give me any dignity before a new guest."

"No-o," agreed Marcy, "but couldn't you wear something with a little authority and dignity, and yet not have it black?"

"Black is always good, always correct."

"It's nothing of the sort, and you know it! For instance, men don't like it—not on their wives."

And then there was Marcy, too. All summer, ever since Marcy had returned to the Haven, Cass had been thinking that "someone should help that girl straighten out her life."

Alex had suggested perhaps that someone would have to be Cass. Certainly the girl's happiness would make a try worth while.

Marcy came to Cass for decisions of all sorts.

"Cass, should I give Donald Meyer a date?"

"He's a nice chap, I hear."

"Oh, he's all right. But he's been steady-dating Joyce Bratton—did, I mean, before he went to the Naval Academy."

"That was 18 months ago."

"That's right."

"If he asked you, he must want your company. On the other hand—"

"Yep. He'll go back to Annapolis next month, and I'll have to go on living here in Blue Jay Cove."

"Can't you fix up a double-date? You know so many men."

"You're a genius!" she told her sister-in-law.

Marcy asked her advice on make-up. She came to her in genuine concern about the talk which Mrs. Meyer was spreading in town. "Why doesn't she concentrate on Donald? He was the one who wanted to go dancing with me—a married woman on the loose!"

"Marcy!" Cass looked up from the towels which she was examining.

"I understand that was her term," said Marcy, throwing herself into a chair, and elevating her brown legs. "And she's right, to some extent. I have been married—and I am on the loose. But I don't believe a date or two with her precious boy gives that harpy a right to spread gossip about my marriage. For one item, she doesn't know a thing about it."

Cass sighed. "Maybe . . ." she began.

Marcy sat up straight, slapping her sandals upon the floor. "No!" she said clearly. "It was—it was a filthy mess! But it wasn't any of their business! Can't we leave it at that?"

Cass was afraid not. But she had not yet spoken when Marcy got to her feet and began walking up and down the hall.

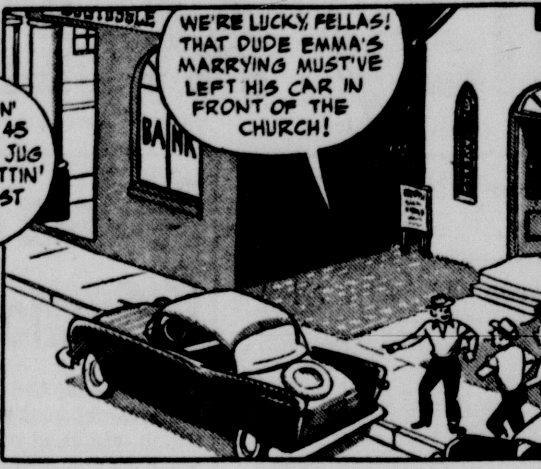

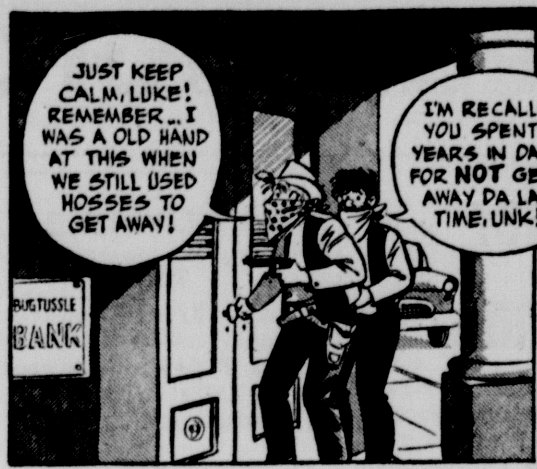

"I think I'll get me a job," she announced. "I need cash money, I'd say would sound bad, Cass. Let's leave it at what you surely know. Aunt Cordy wouldn't want me to run her Haven, not to any degree. She—my mother doesn't like me, Cass."

The Roman province of Lusitania corresponded to modern Portugal, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

General Electric Company anticipates use in the average home of 7,500 kilowatt hours of electricity a year by 1966, in contrast with the use of around 3,000 kilowatt hours in 1956. In terms of coal, at today's rate of efficiency, that would mean the average home will use around 3.5 tons of coal, as electric power, in 1966, against about 1.5 tons in 1956.
